DIRECTOR'S UPDATE

- World events and increased demand have led to significant fluctuation in the natural gas commodity markets, putting upward pressure on the supply charge.
- New Jersey's Basic Gas Supply Service (BGSS), codified by the NJ BPU, approach protects customers from month-to-month and day-to-day commodity price fluctuations by providing an annual rate based on market realities.
- The Basic Gas Supply Service (BGSS) rate reflects the actual cost utilities pay for natural gas, and utilities do not make any money on the supply charge. Every utility in New Jersey has filed for a rate increase due to the increased gas supply cost.

DIRECTOR'S UPDATE (CONTINUED)

- On September 9, 2022, the BPU approved PSE&G's BGSS filing, which will take effect on October 1, 2022. The 23.5% rate increase responds to the 200% increase in natural gas prices. In doing this, the BPU acknowledges and accepts the increase gas supply cost.
- Despite the increase, PSE&G's gas bills will remain the lowest in the state. And rates are still lower than they were in the mid 2000's
- The impact on a residential PSE&G customer using 100 therms per month during the winter months, and 610 therms on an annual basis, would see an increase in their monthly winter bill of $24.77.
